Dedication

Right: Mr. Potter keeps a close watch on the afternoon homeroom. Below: "All right, let's see you do it better!"

MR. EMORY POTTER

To one whose good-natured disposition has brightened many lagging spirits; to one who has so willingly donated much time to class projects; to one whose sincere advice has helped many LHS students; and to one whose genuine devotion will be so keenly missed by the seniors next year, we, the Class of 1965, dedicate our Crystal to Mr. Emory Potter.

Senior History

The Class of 1965 is the first class to complete a full five years in the new Lexington High School. We have no memories of the "old school," nor do we think of ourselves as a group of students consolidated from Effinger and LHS. We have always been a unified class.

In our eighth grade year we elected Brownie Carson President and Peach Coleman Secretary-Treasurer. Kathleen McKenna was appointed to the Honor Court. As Freshmen our leaders were Peach Coleman, President, and Brownie Carson, Secretary-Treasurer. We were represented on the Honor Court by Jimmy Bowen. Chris Brothers and Kathleen McKenna were chosen President and Secretary-Treasurer, respectively, in our Sophomore year and we elected Brud Waddell to the Honor Court.

Our Junior year was a very busy one. We chose Gail Robinson and Linda Davis to head us as President and Secretary-Treasurer, respectively. Our Christmas Dance was a big success and enabled us to give the best prom possible. The music was provided by the "Rhythm Makers." We were proud to have one from our ranks, Brud Waddell, serve as Vice-President of the Student Body. Our representatives on the Honor Court were Chris Brothers and Christine Capito.

Finally, we became mighty seniors. Bobby Weaver, President and H. C. Greene, Secretary-Treasurer, led us in our fight for senior privileges. We were successful and received the privilege of cutting into the lunch line and calling down underclassmen who tried to do the same. In October we gave the Homecoming Dance with music by the "Galaxies." Two of our members were Student Body officers this year. Brud Waddell was President of the Student Body and Gail Robinson was Vice-President. Chris Brothers, Christine Capito, and Melinda Matthews were awarded National Merit Certificates of Commendation. Our Honor Court representatives were Jimmy Bowen, Chris Brothers, and Carolyn Yeager. Patsy Swisher and Gail Robinson were delegates to Girls' State and Brud Waddell and Jimmy Bowen were delegates to Boys' State.

As we look forward to graduation in June, we make plans for next year and for the rest of our lives. We will go our separate ways, but we will always have the past five years as a common bond.

Executive Council

The Executive Council, composed of the president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer of the student body, and the presidents of the five classes, proposes laws necessary for improving the standards of the school and acts as a medium between the students and the faculty.

This year the Council, under the leadership of Mr. Sam Johnson, secured some privileges for the seniors, supervised the Christmas basket program, and raised and lowered the flag. The Council also made plans to buy a new flag for the school.

Zeke Ellington and Monty Brothers fold the flag after school with the assistance of Betty Stuart Lackey.

Honor Court

By tradition, the Honor Court of LHS is a model for honor systems being organized in other schools. The members of the Honor Court for this school year have done their best to uphold the tradition. Cases in which the Honor System has allegedly been violated are brought before the court. It is the duty of the eight elected members to decide the guilt or innocence of suspected violators.

The court is ably guided by faculty advisor, Mr. Donald Miller, and their decisions and the penalties which are levied are subject to the approval of the principal, but, nevertheless, the decisions that are made are entirely those of the members.

All meetings are held in secrecy; only the members, advisor, suspect and his parents have knowledge of the proceedings.

Chris Brothers talks over a technicality with Mr. Miller, the advisor.

Seated: Rusty Ford, Bobby Pickral, Chris Brothers, Steve Wessel. Standing: Mr. Miller, Advisor, Martha Goodman, Jimmy Bowen, Carolyn Yeager, Sally Munger.

In the fall, the staff worked diligently with the magazine drive, ads, pictures, and copy in attempting to meet the deadline. Copy editors, typists, and junior assistants also helped to complete this year's book. Mrs. Beck, the senior English teacher, served as sponsor.

The Crystal is a member of the Southern Inter-scholastic Press Association.

Scarletter

The Scarletter is the Lexington High School newspaper, published for the students of LHS by a student editorial staff headed by Christine Capito, editor in chief. The financial obligations are met solely through subscriptions and advertisements from local merchants. Faculty advisor for The Scarletter for 1964-65 was Mrs. Elliott.

The Scarletter is a member of the Southern Inter-scholastic Press Association and is represented at SIPA conventions in the spring. For the first time The Scarletter was also represented at the Virginia High School Editors' Workshop at Richmond Professional Institute.

N.H.S. Revises Handbook

Members of the National Honor Society are those juniors and seniors who have maintained at least a "90" average during their years in high school and, at the same time have displayed qualities of leadership, character, and service as well as scholarship. Sophomores who meet the standard requirements of the organization become probationary members and after the first semester of their junior year they become regular members.

The members are available to coach students who desire help, as well as to operate the Guidance Room for the benefit of students who wish information on schools, colleges, and many vocations. Under the guidance of Miss Gertrude Morrison, the faculty advisor, the NHS also sponsors a Sadie Hawkins dance and a banquet for the members.

C.P.H.S. Encourages Science

Champe Leary, Secretary-Treasurer; Earl Edwards, Vice-President; and Bobby Weaver, President, look over material in the library.

The Chemistry-Physics Honor Society, sponsored by Miss Elizabeth Dunlap, gives recognition to students who achieve academic excellence in chemistry and physics. A "90" average during the first semester of either subject is a prerequisite for probationary membership; if this average is maintained for the second semester, full membership is attained.

The CPHS holds meetings in October, February, and May. New members are welcomed to the club during the February meeting.

This year's officers were Bobby Weaver, president; Earl Edwards, vice-president; Champe Leary, secretary-treasurer.

Members Jean Sheridan, Rob Goolrick, and Kendall Jamison enjoy Dr. Ford's lecture.

As in the past, the Literary Club continued to encourage the reading and appreciation of good literature. Open to students from the ninth through twelfth grades, the club has one of the largest memberships in the school.

This year the books were selected by a special committee composed of former members. The Tempest by Shakespeare and Fathers and Sons by Ivan Turgenev are a couple of the books read this year.

With the help of Mrs. Dickens, the club advisor, a professor from either V.M.I. or W & L was obtained for each meeting to review the selections.

President Ginky McLaughlin introduces Dr. Ford who spoke to the club on "The Tempest."

Forensic Members Improve Speaking

The Forensic Club is made up of those students who are interested in improving their public speaking habits. It is designed to provide experience and help its members learn more about speaking.

During the club meetings the members give speeches of various types. These meetings are held under the sponsorship of Mrs. Newman, our "forensicizing" expert.

Mrs. Newman listens to a meeting's proceedings.

Secretary Marty Turpin delivers the minutes from the previous meeting.

Teenactors Choose Festival Play

Mrs. Dickens, club sponsor, watches make-up demonstration with her Chinese "prop."

The Dramatics Club, or the Teenactors, provides students with a means to learn about and participate in the theater by acting, designing sets, doing make-up, or any of a number of similar tasks.

For the past three years, the Dramatics Club has won a "superior" rating in the state one-act play festival. Last year the play was "Romance of the Willow Pattern."

This year the club will again participate in the play festivals. To be in the state festival a play must receive a "superior" rating in the district festival, held at one of the schools in the district.

The members also hope to stage another production, besides the festival play, possibly a night of one-act plays.

Mr. Thompson Talks To Math Club

The legendary Mr. Thompson addresses the club from his old desk.

The Math Club, now in its third year of activity, is open to any student having at least one year of algebra. Its purpose is to bring out a greater interest in mathematics.

The program committee is responsible for the programs given in the meetings. These programs are presided over by guest speakers or club members and consist of studies in advanced mathematics, magical squares, and other math games.

The club is sponsored by Mrs. Amy Hayslette. Jimmy Bowen served as president.

H. C. Greene leads a business meeting of the club.

Students Study Roman Customs

The Latin Club, composed of first, second, third, and fourth-year Latin students, was organized in order to interest the students in Roman customs, daily Roman life and history.

The first year students meet once a month during class. Under the skillful guidance of Mrs. Weaver, the teacher and sponsor, they learn much about this wonderful language which serves as a basis for many of our modern languages.

Roman slaves, Brenda Swisher and Connie Irvine, dress Sandy Smith as a Roman bride.

Miss Anderson displays toys to be given to needy children.

The Co-ed Hi-Y is a world service organization in affiliation with the YMCA. This year the Hi-Y had one of its largest memberships.

This group, with the help of Miss Anderson, carried out various service projects within the school and community. In the fall the members sold candy as a money making project. At Christmas, the club members collected used toys for needy children.

The Hi-Y also donated money for a bronze plaque containing the honor code.

A few of the officers assemble in the library.

F.T.A. Advocates Teaching

The Future Teachers of America is one of Lexington High Schools newest clubs. It is open to all students who plan to make teaching their career. The purpose of the F.T.A. is to give interested people a chance to become better acquainted with the vocation. This is done by working part time with the teachers and discussing the teaching profession during meetings.

Mrs. Slusser served as club sponsor this year with Carol Newman as president.

D.E. Builds Christmas Float

Linda Fitzgerald and Bobbie O'Conner dress a display mannequin.

The purpose of DECA is to develop future leaders in marketing and distribution. The students are taught basic selling procedures and other essential facts in the classroom. These facts are then put into practice on the job.

DECA strives to develop vocational understanding, social intelligence, civic consciousness, and leadership development. Some activities of the club include building a float for the local Christmas parade, planning and holding a school dance, and participating in various contests at the district DECA convention.

F.H.A. Sponsors Valentine's Dance

The purpose of the Future Homemakers of America is to encourage individuals to improve personal, family, and community living. To achieve this goal the club chose several objectives to work toward this year. These objectives were: You and Your Values, and Teenage consumers.

The activities for the year included such things as a "Valentine Dance," a Mother-Daughter Banquet, a Christmas Party, and survey within the schools of the Federation concerning "Values You Hold."

Faculty advisors for the F.H.A. were Mrs. Tardy and Mrs. Dunlap; student advisor was Clara Tolley. Carolyn Spencer served as club president.

F.F.A. Studies Modern Farming

The Effinger Chapter of the Future Farmers of America is made up of those boys who are regularly enrolled in the study of vocational agriculture.

The group studies better farm management, soil conservation, forest management and care and repair of farm equipment. Also this year a good deal of time was spent in building an electrical cabinet in which the boys study how to use electricity correctly.

The Effinger Future Farmers of America Chapter, organized in 1947, was named in honor of Mr. George William Effinger, a former Superintendent of Schools.

Pep Squad Makes Posters for Games

The object of the Pep Squad is to promote school spirit. With the greatly increased membership, 125 members for 1964-65, the club succeeded in its effort to arouse the student body's interest in school-sponsored activities.

The Pep Squad decorates the field for home games during football season and makes the posters which are distributed throughout the school to interest students in each of our four major sports.

The club's special activity for the school year was Homecoming Weekend. The Pep Squad, in cooperation with the cheerleaders, sponsored the Homecoming Court, the parade, the intermissions of the Homecoming game and dance, and the pep rally at the movie, which the student body attended.

Cheer

Varsity cheerleaders in action at Homecoming movie.

The cheerleaders for the 1964-65 session deem as their main responsibility the support of the varsity football and basketball teams. The full cooperation of the student body in these activities was the concentration of their effort. Together they strove toward a strengthening of the school spirit which they felt was lying somewhat dormant in the hearts of the students. They worked toward the survival of this spirit and a build up of interest in the schools worthy baseball and track teams. Jean Sheridan, as head cheerleader, led the cheerleader's squad in this work.
